Treviso carried Kaja, broke the enemy, and continued his advance, his drums beating the charge. Cavalry, infantry, artillery, all the enemy began to retreat.

His Majesty cannot praise too highly the spirit and courage of the army.

3d. (From our Imperial Camp at Liitzen.) Well done, soldiers! You have achieved all that I expected of you! Your high spirit and your courage have stood in the stead of all we lacked. You have shed new lustre on the glory of my eagles; you have shown all that the French race can do. The battle of Liitzen will rank higher than the battles of Austerlitz, of Jena, of Friedland, and of the Mos-kowa!

We will hurl these Tartars back into that frightful clime whence they must never more depart. Let them remain in their frozen steppes, the abode of slavery, of barbarism, and of corruption, where man is reduced to the level of the brute! You have deserved well of civilized Europe. Soldiers! Italy, France, and Germany tender you their thanks!

4th. The Prussian and Russian armies are in flight in the direction of Roehlitz. I am moving the army on Dresden.

Nothing could equal the courage, the good-will, the devotion that all these young soldiers show me; they are full of enthusiasm.

6th, Colditz:

The Viceroy defeated the corps of Miloradovitch yesterday at Gersdorf, but we have got very few prisoners.
